the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2010 (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) to ensure that older people are able to live independently; (2) to ensure that older people are able to participate in society; (3) to ensure that older people are able to live in good health; and (4) to ensure that older people are able to live in good homes.

Familiar movements stir carpeted hallways, bells ring, classroom doors click shut and silence floods the hallways.

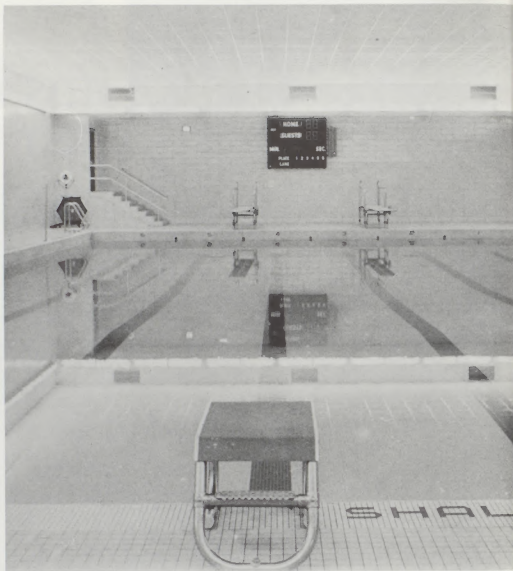

HHS radiates with a peace that had been absent for years. Not since before the December '67 fire, which destroyed the building, has the school appeared so well-polished and settled in.

Series of changes and plans and years of construction and inconvenience took HHS out of smoke-engulfed ruins and turned it into a $4 million school.

For 7 years the community watched Hammond High School and its transformation from FIRE TO ASHES, DUST TO DAZZLE.

Additions to HHS since the '67 fire include a larger parking lot, Olympic-size swimming pool and larger gymnasium, all of which have seen 2 years of use.

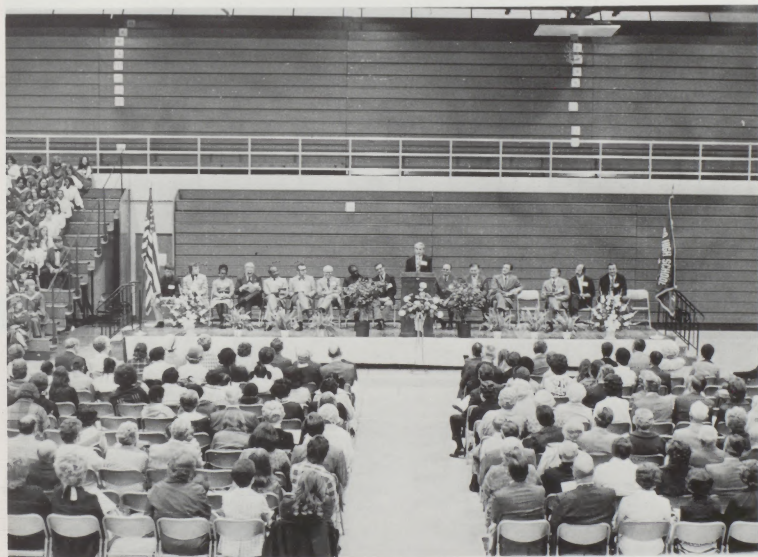

Facilities take on 'used' look

Improved facilities, having lost the "new" look that existed a year ago, now appear "used."

Scuff marks cover gym floor, oil stains spot parking lot pavement and chewing gum dots carpet in classrooms and hallways. Other conditions, too, alter the appearance of building. Facilities, nevertheless, remain new. Thus, reminding students and faculty members of Hammond High's transformation from FIRE TO ASHES, DUST TO DAZZLE.

Program on Oct. 28, 1973 rededicates Hammond High's new facilities and reconstructed building.

STUDENT LIFE

Close of each school day brought jobs, volunteer work, youth group meetings, and spare moments for the favorite pastimes of HHSers.

The humdrum of a typical week of school often ended with a Friday night game, a soccer in the gym, a school play, or a musical production.

Homecoming and Association weeks invited participation and broke students away from routine.

Being unhindered by construction this year, STUDENT LIFE showed transformation from dust to dazzle.

activities, '73 Homecoming Week

Presentation of homecoming queen Patti Markovich and senior princesses Denisa Walker and Wanda Mitchell and escorts highlights halftime activities of Hammond-Chicago Fenger football game.

Student leaders created activities to boost participation in the yearly Association and Homecoming weeks.

Apple and orange sales and a student-teacher talent show added some variety to the traditional Association week activities. Presentation of ASSN. awards, a mud-tug at Harrison Park, a Teacher Versatility and a Mr. Irresistible Day kept Wildcats busy throughout the week which ended with a soc-hop in the gymnasium.

Homecoming activities began with a secret Wildcat search and a tricycle race. Girls battled in powder-puff football games, and students viewed cartoons and silent movies at lunch. Announcement of princesses drew Cats to the hay-ride and bonfire at Glenwood stables. Homecoming dance featured "Stop," a Chicago rock group.

Warming themselves around the crackling bonfire, HHSers await princess announcements.

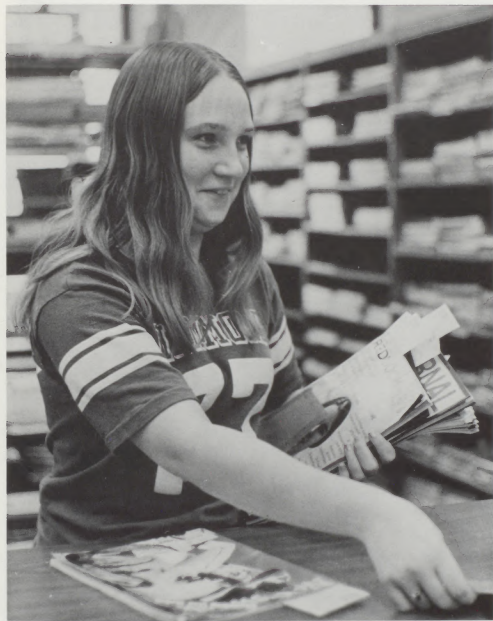

Battling for the powder puff football title, juniors run for gain against freshman defense.

Before serving cokes to friends that dropped in, senior Tracy Burns fills glasses with ice cubes from family refrigerator-freezer.

HHSers utilize time around home

Working at Hammond Public Library, Debbie Cunningham uses call slips to find magazines for students.

After-school activities ranged from bicycling to judo and karate lessons, while homework and household chores remained ever-present.

HHSers spent weekends and free hours working at part-time jobs that included car-hopping at drive-in restaurants, bagging groceries at supermarkets, clerking at discount stores and babysitting for neighbors and relatives.

Other students filled spare time with volunteer work at hospital.

Weekends and holiday vacations provided students with additional time to develop interests and hobbies, listen to favorite music and watch popular television shows.

Strumming guitar on front porch, freshman John Chamberlain practices notes and chords.

Playing game of 1-on-1, seniors Dave Kitchell and Mike Baginski battle for rebound.

Social life surrounds HHS students

Whether partying, dating or building class floats, HHers found themselves surrounded by social events.

Meeting at Barton's, drinking at a friend's house and seeing favorite groups in concert contributed to weekend happenings for some students.

Other students chose to participate in youth groups such as Campus Life Youth for Christ, which met weekly at various students' homes.

Heavy snowfall provides a cold cushion for junior girls to play on during lunch hours.

Sophomore-sponsored Activity Night gave boys opportunity to engage in basketball play.

Because marathon float party allowed little time for sleep, seniors alternated nap periods.

After hayride to Glenwood Stables, senior girls relax and talk in warmth of bonfire.

NCA committee reevaluates school

Gathering the necessary information for reevaluation, a 16 member team from the North Central Association for Secondary Schools (NCA), visited HHS from Mar. 12-15.

Inspecting facilities, observing classes and speaking with students, evaluators offered compliments, criticism and suggestions.

Committee chairman Dr. Robert Dalton delivered oral report Mar. 15 explaining the team's impressions of HHS. A written report was then submitted to NCA State Chairman and the Indiana State Reviewing Committee for further evaluation.

Acceptance into the NCA will be based on annual follow-up reports.

Evaluating building facilities, NCA council member Mr. Earl Shirar travels to auditorium.

Pausing momentarily, NCA committee member Mr. Author Jones inspects library resources.

During lunch hour, NCA committee member detains senior Tony Reid for opinion on student lounge.

Checking over self-evaluation booklet, NCA member Mollie Bailey examines final copy.

Exchanging views, Mr. Leroy Harwell and evaluator Mr. James Isaacs discuss English curriculum.

To judge quality of instrumental groups, Mr. Carroll Copeland directs Concert Band.

'Stigfeld Follies' becomes reality;

Satirizing Mae West, junior Mindy Rush sings "Codfish Ball" in the "Under the Sea" scene.

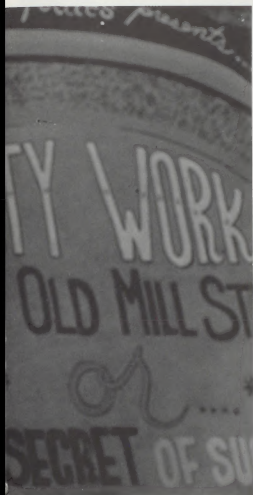

"Apple B. Pie, where are you?" laments Thumbinia, senior Sally Pouch, in melodrama of "Follies."

Depicting World War I doughboys, male choir members join in singing Cohan's "Over There."

175 students join in production

After nearly 2 years' absence, due to renovation of theatre, thespians returned and staged vaudeville musical review, "Stigfeld Follies."

Under the direction of English teacher Mr. Martin Stiglitz, 175 performers worked before and after school to perfect lines and roles based on "Ziegfeld Follies" script.

Stiglitz, students and choral director Mrs. Jacqueline Buss contributed ideas to write the show. "We wanted to do something special for our kids. Anybody could go out and buy a musical and do it. But we wrote our own show and everybody got a chance in it," said Stiglitz.

Scenes composing the musical included "Women thru History," "The Shiek and Princess," "Mississippi Suite," "Under the Sea" and "World War I."

Duet of Gloria Peterson and Mike Carson harmonize in the singing of "It Had to be You."

Flanked by Follies girls seniors Denisa Walker and Brenda Paige, ancient narrator Aesop, played by sophomore Ronald Wallace, recites the classical moral to the fable "The Fox and the Grapes."

Singing "If I May Be Permitted A Word," Fizz, the court magician advises the king.

Fruitless attempts to break through the magic hedge are made by Prince Hammer (Arees Hampton), Prince Feeble (William Van Natta) and Prince Might (Michael Cegur), and all seems lost until the fairies stumble upon the right magic spell and open the hedge for Prince Valor (Jeronimo Garza).

Thespians perform children's play

Directed by Mr. Marty Stiglitz, a thirty-member cast performed the children's play, "Sleeping Beauty," Fri. and Sat., Feb. 22 and 23, and in auditorium session Mar. 5 and 6.

Narrating story, half-moon fairy Treakle tells of the sleeping curse cast by an evil fairy Hogal when she was not invited to the royal party. The fairies demonstrate their attempts in finding a prince to break the curse and awaken the princess.

Four musicians from concert band accompanied songs and provided sound effects throughout the play.

Explaining Thrustlebump's (Brenda Wichman) flying fears, Fee (Vicki Hendon), Foe (Karen Mulholland), Fum (Mary Gilbert) and Fie (Renee Richards) sing as Treakle (Joy Phillips) listens.

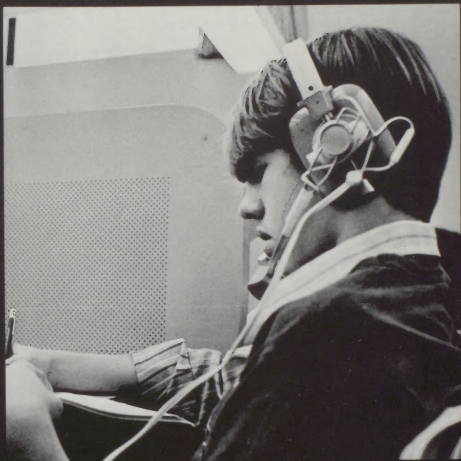

Rejoicing in Princess Aurora's awakening, Prince Valor and fairies join festivities.

Finding that the sleeping curse put on by the wicked fairy Hogal comes true, the Kingdom of Thence settles down for 100-year sleep.

ACADEMICS

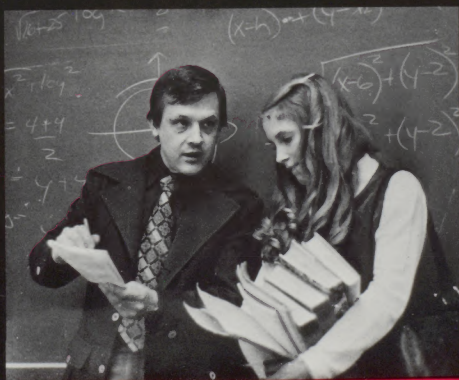

Talking to counselors, viewing curriculum possibilities, making semester class choices, students enrolled in college prep, general, business, and practical arts courses.

Writing comps, making collages, taking shorthand, delivering speeches, dissecting frogs, and proving theorems, students completed class requirements.

Working with new textbooks and facilities in a renovated building, ACADEMICS observed transformation from FIRE TO ASHES, DUST TO DAZZLE.

As class views classical art, German teacher Mr. Tom Schwartz comments on contents of picture.

Linguists practice in language lab

Foreign language department offered linguists opportunities to excel in French, Spanish and German.

Classes listened to tapes in the language lab to practice pronunciation and improve listening skills.

Students participated in Indiana University Honors Program. Winners traveled to France, Mexico or Germany and lived with families there.

German classes sponsored "October Fest," and French classes baked pastries for Lions Club travelogue.

As Mrs. Janice Montgomery assigns homework, seniors in French 8 class take notes.

Sharing French workbook, freshmen Patty Laramie and Pam Gibbs listen to practice drill tapes.

Sharing interpretations, sophomores Dan Kuipers and Diane Lock discuss "Schurz."

Students preview business world,

Study of comptometers occupies time of clerical practice students during 1st grading period.

Correcting mistake made in practice typing drill, junior Edna Jones uses typing eraser.

Sixty-second typing drill for speed requires senior Karen Patrick to keep eyes fixed on lesson book.

learn uses of modernized equipment

To fulfill assigned requirements for third hour clerical practice class, senior students Mary Ramirez, Helen Sotos and Susan Ricciardi ditto off master copies on duplicating machine in room 11.

Available business classes offered students a preview and understanding of the world of business.

Modernized equipment and facilities aided students and faculty.

General business, business law, and business management provided information for personal uses and careers. Shorthand and clerical practice readied students for jobs.

Before beginning typing drill, junior Debbie Scatena waits for instructor's signal.

Shop classes increase curriculum;

Boys compete for fitness council

Participating in athletic activities, students fulfilled state and school physical education requirements.

Boys and girls swim classes utilized pool facilities, learned assorted basic swimming strokes and diving and lifesaving techniques.

Gym classes joined in various activities. Girls learned gymnastics and danced, while boys tested for President's fitness council.

Rescuing classmate in safety procedure, freshmen rehearse extended pole technique.

Fifth hour lunch provides Jim Beshears with time to play soccer with friends in the gym.

Art class members display projects;

Pieces of yarn form macramé design at the fingertips of sophomore student Vicky Hendon.

senior artists compete for awards

In art class, junior Tom Smallman designs a mural in water colors for a second semester project.

Members of art classes, with the assistance of Mr. Raymond Ball and Mrs. Karen Baumann, displayed the projects of various individuals.

After receiving Gold Key and Hallmark awards for modular painting at South Bend, Indiana, senior George Wong sent painting to New York to compete with other art pieces for national rank and awards. Also at South Bend, seniors Gerry Horsley and Dan Chumbley earned honorable mentions for modular acrylic painting and photography, respectively.

Mr. Ball sponsored Art Fair.

Explaining how to make roller prints, Mr. Ray Ball demonstrates method to senior Anita Mardis, junior Freeman Coles.

ORGANIZATIONS

Whether leading cheers, practicing half-time routines, raising needed funds, competing for music awards, meeting printer's deadlines, or planning activities, school-oriented organizations helped students gain experience by working in groups.

While several traditions remained, new patterns developed in the renovated school and ORGANIZATIONS became an active part of the transformation from fire to ashes, dust to dazzle.

Making firm challenge for first place, sophomore Rudy Chapa moves up on junior Carey Pinkowski.

Before '73 ended, Harriers gained recognition throughout state.

Distance men, led by 5 returning lettermen, triumphed in meets. Acknowledged honors included first in the conference, Hobart Invitational and sectional meets. Second in regional and 4th in state topped runners' list of combined efforts.

Winning at decisive moments, Pinkowski and Chapa won new titles.

Pinkowski's achievements included record-breaking performances at Hobart Invitational, sectional and regional meets. Aside from the forementioned championships, he captured first in state meet; thus, becoming the first in HHS history to do so.

Following Pinkowski, Chapa gained a first in New Prairie Invitational meet, 2nd in sectional and 3rd in regional. When he placed 3rd in State meet, he became first sophomore ever to place so high.

Mr. Dan Candiano coached team.

Exhausted after a grueling meet at Portage, junior John Roper tries to catch his breath.

At sound of the gun, junior varsity Harriers begin 2-1/2 mile run at Clark-Whiting meet.

Gridders win 7 games, lose 3 under Completing a 40-yard pass, senior captain Brian Pleitner runs a first half touchdown.

Fighting off Tech tacklers, Charles Cook follows his blockers for extra yardage in HHS victory.

PEOPLE

Incoming students became oriented to HHS while those returning had to read-just to renovations.

As the year wore on, 'Cats associated faces with personalities and established unchanging friendships.

In the main office, at the bookstore, in the lunchroom, in the corridors and all through the school, the PEOPLE of HHS — students, faculty, administration, custodians, clerks and cooks observed the transformation from FIRE TO ASHES, DUST TO DAZZLE.

Freshmen build runner-up float

Increasing the HHS student body by 350, incoming freshmen toured newly restored school and received schedules during group orientation, August 31.

Frosh participated in election of class officers, house reps and senators and became the first class to obtain frosh cheerleaders. Despite early homecoming, ninth graders combined efforts to build the Class of '77 float, "Deliver Us To Victory," which placed second in competition.

Sophomores purchase class rings

Experiencing their second year of high school life, sophomores elected officers to make class decisions.

Sponsored by Mr. Robert Dennis and Miss Mary Rodgers, sophomores chose Josten's to make class rings.

Class of '76 constructed Homecoming float entry, "We'll Cream 'em," and elected Gail Hilbrich princess.

New counselor, Mrs. Mary Ann Molchan, administered Iowa Basic Skills Test to tenth graders, November 15. Sophomores also took NEDT tests in February to prepare for National Merit Test junior year.

Class officers decided upon a 50¢ dues price to cover expenses of the sophomore class trip to the Indiana State Dunes planned for early June.

ADS

From a new set of tires to flowers for prom, area businesses helped satisfy HHSers changing needs.

Students found employment at restaurants, department and grocery stores. Some deposited earnings at various area banks for college or a new car while others spent money on clothes and records.

While the whole world experienced transformation of prices, HHS ADS patrons still provided quality goods and services.

Burger's sells quality grocery items

Burger's supermarkets, on Columbia Ave. in Hammond; Ridge Rd. in Munster; and 45th St. in Munster, provided grocery shoppers with quality goods at low prices. They also employed students part time.

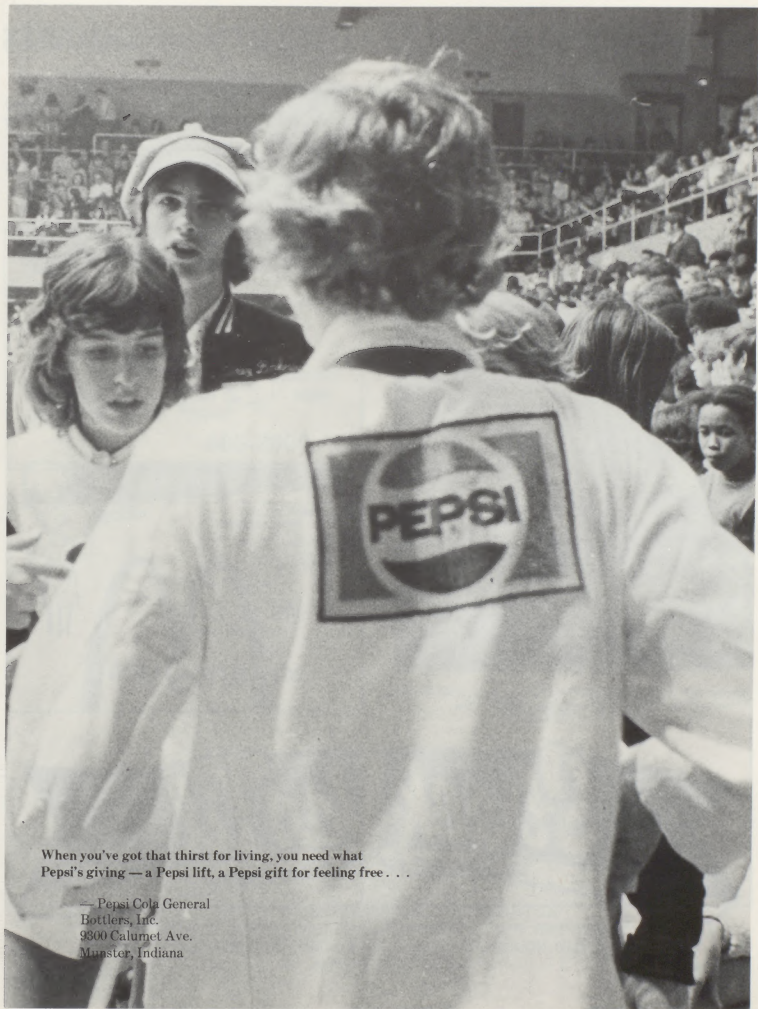

To earn extra spending money, junior Dan Bainer bags groceries at Burger's during after school hours.

Restaurants feed hungry students

Area restaurants helped students satisfy appetites during lunch and celebrate victories after games.

Food centers provided residents with quality produce and low prices.

Teibel's Restaurant at Routes 30 and 41 in Schererville hosted banquets, luncheons and receptions.

McDonald's, located on the corner of 165th and Columbia, and Dairy Queen provided parttime jobs for students and served hungry people.

Serving the community from 4 locations, Strack & Van Til's offered quality food items at low prices.

A & W Drive-O-Matic, at 7206 Calumet, served its famous frothing root beer with snacks and meals.

Maid Rite and Schoop's fed hamburgers, french fries and cokes to hungry students during lunch hours.

Area businesses helped to serve students and community needs.

In tune to modern wear for men, Joe Hirsch and the Court Shop offered fashion conscious students various selections at the downtown Hammond store (5244 Hohman) and Woodmar Mall.

Featuring the latest in town and country apparel, Einhorn's stock accented new spring wardrobes.

Family shoppers flocked to the downtown store of Edward C. Minas, situated at 460 State St., for household supplies, kitchen appliances, clothes, fabrics and furnishings.

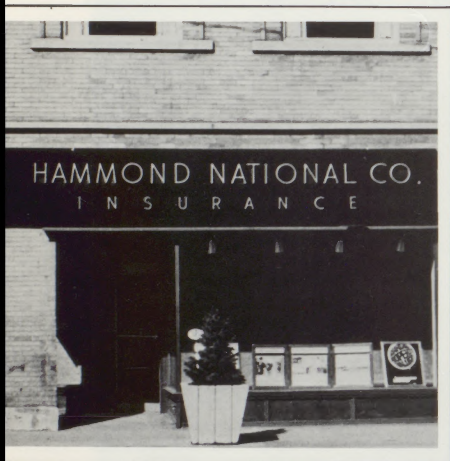

For dry-cleaning services, students patronized two local stores, Riddle's Cleaners, 603 169th St. and Vogue Cleaners at 5529 Hohman Ave.

Finding customer's cleaning, Candy Riddle and Lana Jarvis operate Riddle's clothes rack.

As shop sign indicates, Vogue Cleaners continues to offer same day cleaning service.

Across the street from HHS, city-elected officials oversaw Hammond government and heard court cases.

Beginning the 3rd year of his 4-year term last November, Mayor Joseph Klen supervised Hammond from City Hall, 5925 Calumet Ave.

Retaining judicial post, Judge Edward Raskosky made court decisions from same City Hall location.

Executive scandals dominate news;

THE PRESIDENCY

As the nation watched, Richard Nixon gambled with the presidential office. He claimed to know nothing of the Watergate wire-tapping cover-up, but failed to cooperate with judges and special prosecutors.

He pleaded "executive privilege" when tape recordings of his conversations were subpoenaed by U.S. District Court. Finally, in April, 1974, Nixon released transcripts of the tapes and faced possible impeachment by Congress.

PATTY HEARST

In Feb., 1974, newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was kidnapped from her Berkeley apartment. The Symbionese Liberation Army demanded a ransom of $4 million in free food for needy people.

Then, just Patty's release became encouraging, a photograph and tape recording arrived at a San Francisco radio station. The message they carried was clear: Patty had decided to stay with the SLA.

ENERGY CRISIS

December, 1973, brought more than just cold weather. It brought an energy crisis and a shortage of fuel. Service stations rationed gasoline, often limiting customers to $2.00 purchases. Drivers usually had to wait in lines before buying gas at a high 55¢ per gallon. To conserve fuel, President Nixon asked people to slow down driving speeds and suggested gas stations close down on Sundays.

WORLD NEWS

After being indicted for tax evasion and collusion, Spiro Agnew resigned from the Vice Presidency in September, 1973. Weeks later, Congress confirmed House Minority leader Gerald Ford as the new Vice President of the United States.

Arab and Israeli nations could not settle on an agreement, so war continued to rage in the Middle East.

George Pompidou, French president for 5 years, died in April with cancer of bone marrow.

SPORTS

Hank Aaron hit 715th homerun in Spring 1974, thus topping the old record set by the late Babe Ruth.

Minnesota fell to Miami in the Super Bowl.

Billie Jean King struck a blow for Women's Lib when she defeated Bobby Riggs in widely publicized tennis tournament.

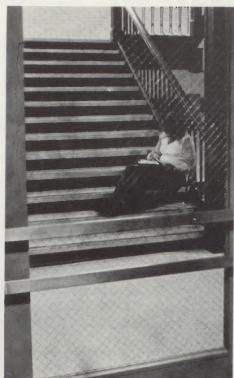

North Carolina upset UCLA and Marquette to win NCAA basketball title.

"Streaking" or "running very fast in the nude," developed into a fad. "Streakers" appeared in shopping centers, bowling alleys and restaurants, as well as on beaches and at drag strips.

Cycling and bike hikes continued to be popular with those people interested in ecology and physical fitness.

Some things never seem to change at HHS, like getting caught by a train on the way to school, cramming for exams and walking to Maywood Park during lunch hour.

Students accept changes, routine

As the school year ends at HHS, students and building are another year older and another class higher.

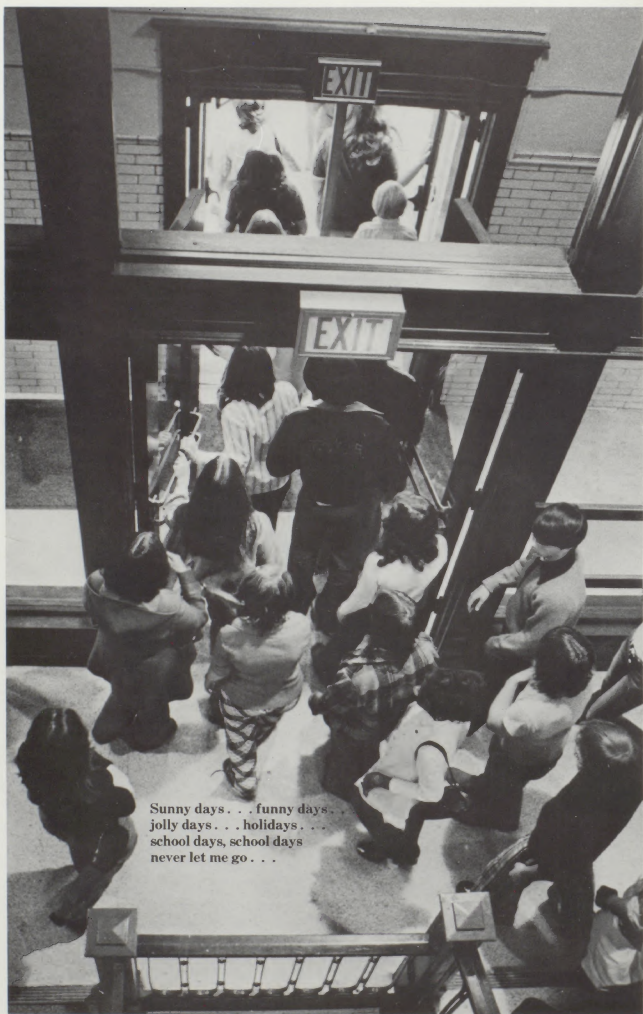

Along with enrollment, the spirit and overall morale of 'Cats changed.

Acceptance of routine and defiance of defeat played parts in lives of almost 1200 HHSers.

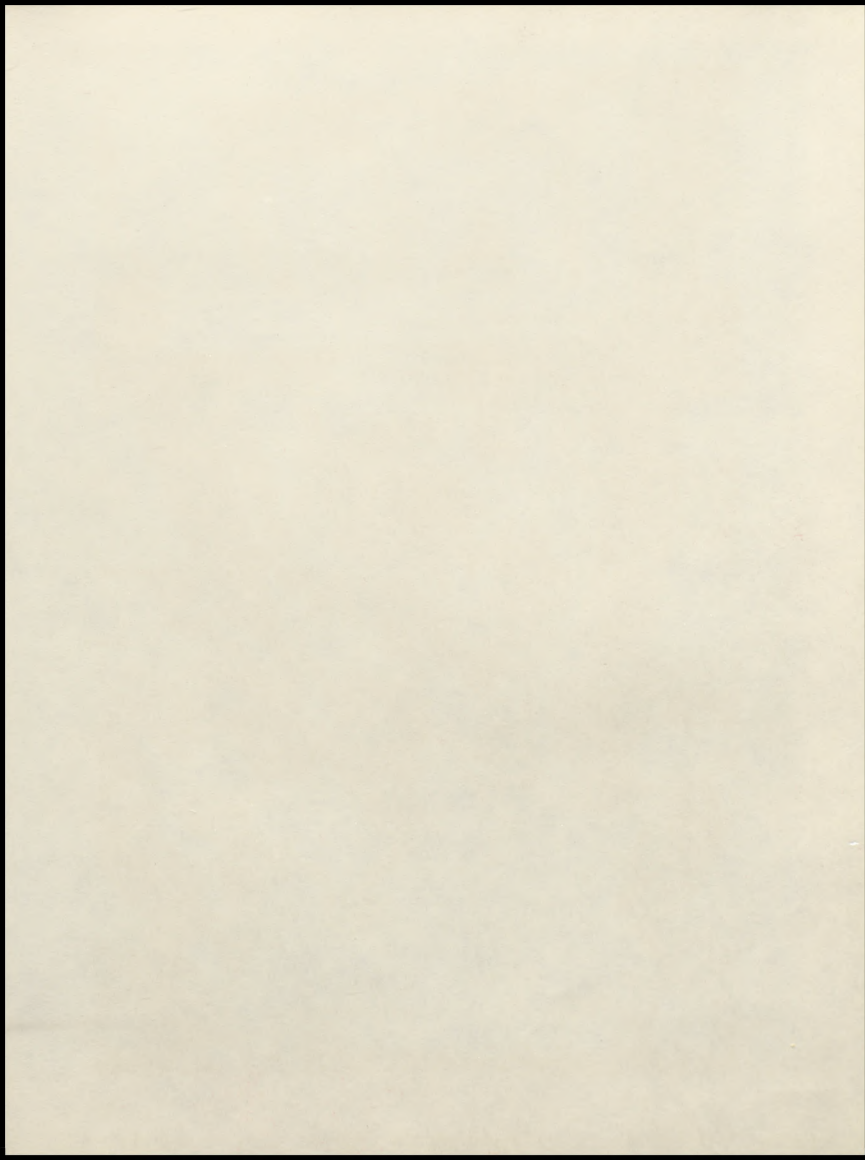

With construction over, Wildcats were able to fall into pattern school days.

Despite conflicting attitudes, students faced the year and its changes, just as HHS faced 7 years of change as it went from FIRE TO ASHES, DUST TO DAZZLE.

Death of senior girl compelled class of '73 to have tree planted in memoriam of her.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2010 (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase by 2.5 million by 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for the ageing population, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) to improve the health and social care of older people; (2) to ensure that older people are able to live independently; (3) to ensure that older people are able to participate in society; and (4) to ensure that older people are able to live in their own homes.
